125th Anniversary Reflection

Guest Column

by Walter Morris

This past Sunday we celebrated the closing Mass of our 125th Anniversary year.

We were blessed to have Bishop Malesic and Deacon Mike Puhalla from Holy Trinity Parish join us for this joyful moment.

Over the past year, we have honored the story of our school and parish; a story that began humbly when Mass was first celebrated in the old Glenville schoolhouse.

The rich history of our parish is like a quilt, woven from many patches and fabrics, each stitched with love and sacrifice. Yet every piece shares the same purpose: to offer warmth and comfort to anyone who draws it around their shoulders.

From Irish roots to Black American faith and stewardship, this parish has always belonged to all of us and like our Catholic faith, this “quilt” bears no sign restricting its use. It simply waits patiently for those who take the first step, open the closet door, and allow themselves to be wrapped in its care.

How fitting that as we closed our 125th Anniversary year, the week that followed was adorned with the Solemnity of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist. His birth reminds us that every ending in the life of the Church is also a beginning. As we move forward, may these coming months and years be marked by renewed evangelization.

Sharing the gift of our faith with those who feel alone, discouraged, or hardened of heart lies at the center of our faith. So this moment is not a conclusion, but a dawn, a new chapter in which our parish community, like John the Baptist, proclaims the greatness of the Lord with courage, tenderness, and joy.

The musicians and singers were spectacular
